Ford Reported Trying to Offer Apology to Win N.Y. Jews

Publisher asserts Man Passing as Envoy of Auto Maker Asked if Retraction for Charges in "Dearborn Independent" Would Do; Reply Was 'No.'

New York (special)—A visit which a Jewish publisher received last week from a man who represented himself as spokesman for Henry Ford has given rise to a report that Ford is sounding out the possibilities of gaining the political support of Jews by withdrawing the attacks he made on people of that faith in "The Dearborn Independent" two years ago.

His caller asked the publisher if such action on Ford's part would assure him the support of New York. The reply of the publisher was that it would be of no avail so far as placating the Jews was concerned. A single article in "The Dearborn Independent" might have been forgotten, he said, but such a series as was published was unforgivable.

"Mr. Ford sinned against light and knowledge," said Joseph Levenson, former Motion Picture Commissioner, when told yesterday of the apparent overtures made by Ford, "indicating the possession of a malevolent motive. It was not an impulsive act on his part, but a deliberate one, especially deadly in a republic where government depends on forgetting racial prejudices.

"Mr. Ford has made a surprising financial success of quantity production of an article that has come into common use. For every good deed he has done he should have credit, but his proposed candidacy for the nomination for President of the United States is an insult. It looks as if he intended to buy the biggest thing in the world, because he is the richest man in the world. Some things cannot be bought.

"It is a grave question whether his type of industrialism is not a positive detriment to society. He has employed men at good wages, but he has exploited them to the last fraction of a second of their laboring hours by contriving his production mechanism so that a man in his eight-hour stunt cannot take his eye off his task. Ford may as well keep his olive branches out of New York. He has written himself down as an enemy of human brotherhood. There are about 350,000 Jewish votes in New York. Ford would not get 10,000 of them."

Samuel S. Koenig, chairman of the New York Republican County Committee, says that the Democrats never would be so incredibly foolish as to nominate Ford for President.

ARABS MISLED BY MISCHIEF MAKERS, LORD MILNER DECLARES

London (J.T.A.).—The Palestine Arabs are protesting not at what is happening or has happened, but what they are told will happen, Lord Milner, who recently returned from a visit to Palestine, declared in an address to-day before the Central Asiatic Society.

The Arabs are being misled, Lord Milner continued, "by deliberate mischief-makers who themselves are frequently not natives of Palestine. These tell the Arabs, the country will be taken away and given to the Jews under a Jewish administration.

"Palestine Arabs should be satisfied with the declaration by Ormsby-Gore, Assistant Colonial Secretary, that immigration of the Jews into Palestine does not involve injury to the Arabs, but, rather will promote the development of Palestine," he said. Otherwise, Lord Milner declared there would be no development of Palestine for decades, perhaps, never.

"It is essential that there be a disinterested government in Palestine bent on keeping peace between Jews, Moslems and Christians," he concluded.

JEWISH LABOR READY TO TURN TO SYNAGOG, ADLER SAYS

World Court is Commended by Rabbinical Assembly.

Long Branch, N.J. (J.T.A.)—Never before in recent history has there been such an opportunity for the synagog to bring to its side the forces of Jewish labor, Dr. Cyrus Adler told the convention of the Rabbinical Seminary in meeting here yesterday.

Dr. Adler declared that the reason for this sympathetic attitude of labor is to be found in the resentment felt by Jewish labor against the Bolshevist persecution of the Jewish religion in Russia. Labor has now swung to the side of the synagog and it is the duty of the rabbis to take advantage of this drift, Dr. Adler told the rabbis.

The rabbinical convention also urged the participation of the United States in the "World Court already established or in such other association of the states in the civilized world as shall tend to substitute arbitration and justice for force in settlement of differences between states."

Branding the practice of holding college examinations on Saturday and holidays as un-American the convention in a resolution call upon the boards of Education and the boards of examiners of states and national institutions to arrange examinations and other public exercises on such days as not to compel Jews to violate religious principles.

The convention resolved to draw up a set of principles based on Jewish tradition to guide rabbis in their attitude toward industrial problems and to co-operate with other religious bodies to further social justice. A code of ethics for the relations of rabbis among themselves is also to be formulated.

RABBI, BLINDED IN WAR, OPENS VETERANS' CONVENTION

Minneapolis (J.T.A.)—Rabbi Michael Aaronsohn of Baltimore, the army chaplain who was blinded in the war from a shot through the head, was among those to open the convention of Disabled American Veterans of the World War. Two thousand veterans are participating in the deliberations.

SAMUEL STEADFAST ON ZIONIST POLICY

Jerusalem (J. T. A.)—The High Commissioner, Sir Herbert Samuel, took occasion yesterday to reiterate his belief in the steadfastness of the Jewish National Home Policy, which, he said, "will always remain."

The occasion was the dedication of the Rabbinical House built by Harry Fischel, of New York, as a residence for Chief Rabbi Kuk. The American Consul was also a speaker at the ceremony.

Directors: Jacob Kolin, M. Levine, I. H. Leventhal, L. Finklestein, Max Kadushin, N. Blechman, of New York; J. H. Greenstone, S. Fredman, M.D., Klein, M. Cohen, Philadelphia; Solomon Goodman, Cleveland; C. H. Kauvar, Denver; H. Lissaur, San Francisco, and M. Levitsky, Wilkesbarre, Pa.

SIGNAL SUCCESS OF OTTAWA STUDENT

Mr. Joseph H. Goldsmith, of Ottawa, was first among those who tried for the degree of Bachelor of Commerce in 1923, and he has the unique distinction of being the first upon whom has been conferred the golden key of the McGill chapter of the international commerce fraternity, Delta Sigma Pi. He has had a uniformly high record of achievement all throughout his scholastic career.

Born in Keltz, Russian Poland, about 23 years ago, he received a scanty education in the Jewish school there, and then came out to this country about thirteen years ago. Although he could not speak a word of English when he came, he finished his primary education in three years in Bolton and George Street public schools, and entered the collegiate institute in the fall of 1913. He was successful in having the highest average in the class the first year, but because he did not take physics was denied the medal which goes to the pupil with the highest aggregate and not the highest average. Taking care not to repeat the same mistake again, he won the gold medal during the next three years in the collegiate, matriculating in 1917.

Imbued with a desire for higher education, he set about to earn his way through McGill, and after three years' employment in the government, he entered on the commerce course in the fall of 1920. Not only has he headed the class every year, but he has never fallen below first-class honors in any subject on the curriculum, and he leaves the college in 1923, a graduate of commerce with the highest honors. His father is Max Goldsmith, of 285 York Street. He is a teacher of Hebrew in the George Street School. While at college, aside from academic pursuits, Mr. Goldsmith made his mark as a debater, and was also vice-president of the Maccabacan Circle. Mr. Goldsmith is at present employed in Montreal.

Commemorate Anniversary of the Passing of Theodor Herzl

Mr. Lazarus Phillips, Montreal, and third vice-president of the Zionist Federation of Canada, was the principal speaker on the evening of the 4th inst., at the ceremonies which marked the observance of the 19th anniversary of the death of Theodor Herzl, founder of modern Zionism.

In spite of the warm weather, the meeting, under the auspices of the Ottawa Hadassah Chapter, was large and the speaker was accorded a warm welcome. Mr. A. J. Freiman, president of the Zionist Federation of Canada, presided and the gathering was addressed also by Rabbi Jos. D. Berger who prayed that the spirit of the departed Herzl might inspire Jews of to-day. Rev. J. Mirsky chanted a benediction upon the late leader while the gathering stood with bowed heads.

At the conclusion of the meeting a large number of subscriptions for trees in connection with the reforestation scheme being conducted in Palestine by Zionists were sold. These trees may be purchased at $1.50 apiece and since the commencement of the movement thousands of them have been sold.

Mr. Phillips paid a splendid tribute to Herzl, whom he described as the noblest character in Jewish history. A most striking comparison was made between Dr. Herzl and the great leader Moses. Moses, said the speaker, led a few million Jews out of bondage who were forced to make bricks under hardship while under Egyptian rule. Herzl had nine or ten million to free from the slavery of making gold bricks for themselves, and had many more difficult obstables to overcome in freeing the Jew from himself. Like Moses, Dr. Herzl never lived to see the Holy Land.

At the conclusion of his address, a vote of thanks was moved Mr. Phillips by Mr. B. Goldfield, and seconded by Mr. Sam Lepofsky.

Baron de Hirsch Book Club Elects Honorary Officers; Bnai Brith changes Camp Site; Private Screening of Zionist Film; Y.M.H.A. Building Ready in September; Social and Personal.

THE BARON DE HIRSCH BOOK CLUB ELECTS ITS HONORARY OFFICERS.

The honorary officers of the club for the coming year were chosen at a board meeting held at the Institute on Tuesday night last.

The following are the unanimous choice of the Board: Honorary president, Robert H. Blumenthal; hon. vice-president, Ald. Lyon W. Jacobs,; Hon. vice-president, Mrs. Harry Bloomfield; hon. secretary, Miss Annie Lerner. Sponsors: Dr. Howard, S. Ross, K.C., Miss Ida Seigler, A. J. Livinson, M.A., Mr. Geo. G. Wright (ed. assoc. Montreal Star), Mr. John Gardiner (ed. assoc. Montreal Standard), Mr. John Sullivan, K.C.

For the opening meeting to take place in September, it is hoped that the Honorable Mr. Justice Greenshields will be the speaker. Sammie Chamitov will probably give a piano recital on this occasion. Master Chamitov, who is only eight years old, holds an enviable position in the musical world. Other items of the programme will include installation of officers and reception.

BNAI BRITH CHANGES CAMP SITE

The committee in charge of the Bnai Brith camp that was forced to give up the contemplated camp properties at Shawbridge because of certain difficulties that made the spot most unfavorable for camping, were indeed fortunate in obtaining an ideal site at Lac des Isles, Ste. Marguerite. This spot which is considered to be one of the most beautiful places in the Laurentians is 1,147 feet above sea-level. Over forty under-privileged children are already enjoying a healthful vacation under the expert supervision of the camp councillors, Messrs. Harry Batshaw and Samuel Rudenko of McGill, Law '24, and Mess Moe Kauffman and Eddie Blumenfeld, Medicine '24. These councillors were all with the camp last year and are extremely capable of fulfilling their duties.

An interesting meeting of the Bnai Brith took place on the last Wednesday in June at the Mount Royal Hotel in honour of Mr. Charles Hartman, member of the executive committee of Bnai Brith of New York, and Mr. Max Levy, the secretary of the District No. 1 of New York, who were in town on an official visit. Mr. Max Bernfeld presided. Mr. Lyon Cohen in a brief talk welcomed the visitors. Mr. Marcus Sperber, who has just returned from Palestine, told of the Bnai Brith work in Palestine where they have established reading rooms, taken an active interest in the building fund and have helped to make Jerusalem more comfortable in general for the Jews. The evening closed with a very fine musical program by Miss Olga Guilaroff and Miss Izard.

Private Screening of Zionist Film

There was a private screening of a Zionist film in the Albee Building, Mayor Street, last Monday night. The picture was seen by all the prominent Zionists of the city who will decide as to the practicability of using it for propaganda purposes. The film was taken in Jerusalem by the Jewish National Fund and depicts life in the Holy Land.

Y. M. H. A. BUILDING READY IN SEPTEMBER

The Young Men's Hebrew Association is building a fine modern gymnasium which will be ready for use towards the beginning of September. The old gymnasium in the building on St. Urbain Street, has been demolished to make room for the new one which will be extremely well equipped. Classes have been discontinued because of alterations but will be resumed early in the fall.

THE JEWISH COMMUNITY AND CANADIANIZATION

What is the Jewish community of Toronto and the other Jewish communities throughout Canada doing along the lines of Canadianization? This question is pertinent for several reasons. The general community in Toronto is doing little or nothing to teach her foreign born English and provides practically no facilities for helping them to become citizens. Many immigrants, especially from Europe, live in the country for years without becoming naturalized or acquiring a knowledge of the language. This condition is serious not merely from the viewpoint of our failure to fashion a national consciousness in Canada, but frequently the immigrant's neglect or indifference to naturalizing proves extremely detrimental to his own interests. Thus, for example, an unnaturalized immigrant dies leaving a poor widow and several children. This widow under the laws of the Province of Ontario would be entitled to a government pension provided her husband had been a citizen. In many instances which have come to our notice, a long delay in receiving a pension was necessitated in order to naturalize the widow. Frequently too, children who were born on the other side, and who were reared in Canada find themselves aliens through the failure of their parents to become citizens before their children grew to maturity. We know of other cases where the neglect of immigrants to become citizens caused them considerable difficulty when they endeavored to bring their families over to join them.

In Toronto the Jewish community numbers 40,000 souls, and in Ontario the Jewish population would easily amount to 60,000, yet politically the interests of this large and influential section of the population is not represented in the Provincial House. This would not be the case if more of our people were citizens.

It is exceedingly disappointing when one realizes how little Canadianization work the cities and provinces of Canada do. The only agencies which concern themselves with this problem are the Christian missionaries, and we regret to say that their motives are not always purely those of Canadianization, but rather those of evangelization. The Protestant missionary workers among the Jewish and Catholic foreign-born merely use Canadianization as an attractive bait to lure their "fish" on to the hook of conversion. Nevertheless we give them credit for being the only ones who concern themselves with this serious and important problem.

In view of the failure of the Government to do what is rightfully its duty, it behooves us, of the Jewish community here and elsewhere, to do what in us lies to teach our immigrant brethren to read, write and speak the English language, and to encourage them to become Canadian citizens. This is our duty, not merely because we deem it in the interests of our co-religionist, to become naturalized, but because we are keen on proving to our non-Jewish neighbors that we are not foreigners, that Canada is not a temporary domicile for the Jew—a place to which he comes to make money, and then to return to the old home to spend it. Canada is for the Jewish immigrant a new homeland where he comes to settle, rear his family and build a future.

It is manifestly unfair as well as unwise to live in a country and receive all the benefits and privileges accruing thereby without sharing in the responsibilities attached to citizenship. Those who are not citizens and should be, fail to demonstrate their loyalty. With our own people it is the result of lack of opportunity and negligence.

The Jewish Community of Toronto at present provides neither facilities nor the "sinews of war" wherewith to conduct the work of Canadianization. And let us state here and now, that by Canadianization we do not mean that cheap chauvinistic flag waving or rah, rah stuff which so frequently passes for "Canadianism." We are cognizant of the fact that Canada is "a nation in the making" and in that process of making, the immigrant has a great deal to contribute, not merely in terms of "brawn," but in terms of spiritual and cultural values. We are not believers in the kind of Canadianization which demands from the immigrant upon admission that he erase from his soul all those elements which make him a desirable asset to the country of his adoption.

The human soul is not a blackboard from which the influences of ages can be rubbed off willy nilly. Besides, we count it a mistake to so do, even if this were possible. The soul of the immigrant is the dearest possession he brings us, and it is the very thing which we should encourage the immigrant to conserve. By Canadianization we mean that process of adjustment which the immigrant undergoes in order to integrate himself into the new life and environment with which he is confronted, whilst at the same time retaining those elements of character and soul which make him a unique and worthwhile personality.

What can the Jewish communities in Canada do in this regard?

They can first organize with this specific purpose in view. The Bnai Brith Lodge and Council of Jewish Women, Hebrew Immigrant Aid Society, the Y.M. and Y.W.H.A., the Federation of Philanthropies, the Workmen's Circle and other representative organizations in every community interested in the concrete phase of the problems of teaching English to immigrants and helping them to naturalize, can get together in a conference of delegates and map out a programme and a method of financing. The different communal halls and buildings could be utilized for purposes of class meetings and lectures. A steady campaign of publicity can be started urging our immigrant men and women to take up the study of English.

In one community that we know of, the Jewish manufacturers employing Jewish workers consented to give one half hour after lunch to be devoted to teaching English and civics. In another, the Council of Jewish Women organized small classes of a few housewives at a time in the parlor of one of the class. A teacher who understood Yiddish taught whilst another woman played with the children. These are but instances of what can be done.

The work of Canadianization carried on by the Jewish community for Jewish immigrants is more apt to be successful than that conducted by the public schools or Christian organizations among Jews. The Jewish immigrant is not keen about parading his limitations among non-Jews. He has more confidence in a teacher who understands his peculiar psychology and speaks his language. He is not apt to suspect the motives. All these factors must be considered.

The time has come to make a start. Jewish communities throughout Canada can no longer afford to remain deficient in this regard.

This laundry specializes on "family wash" only, but that includes practically everything of a household nature that can be washed—such as body clothing, flat-wear, shirts, stockings, dusters, tea towels, curtains, blankets, awnings, carpets, rag rugs. Nothing is starched or marked. Everything is flat-ironed after being washed in soft water and the purest of soaps. The cost is trifling and the work, we are proud to say, is really splendid. Phone

Beth-Sefer Reali Ibri, Hebrew Secondary School, Haifa, Palestine

Written for the Canadian Jewish Review
BY DR. BIRAM, DIRECTOR

(Editor's Note: The following article was written especially for CANADIAN JEWISH REVIEW by Dr. Biram, Principal of the Hebrew Secondary School at Haifa, to emphasize that the education at the school combines the modern principles of education with the requirements of Jewish life and that its boarding school makes it possible for the Jews of United States and Canada to have their children educated in Palestine).

To find right methods of education has become a great problem all over the world, and the best minds are trying to solve it. It is a twofold problem in a country like Palestine with its double aim of forming a centre of Hebrew life and culture on the one hand, and on the other hand of educating a new generation fit for life in a country which requires practical work more than anything else. Not intellectuals are needed, but young men and women well trained for manual work. The importance of good farmers for Palestine has long been recognised, but not less important are good craftsmen. And another thing which is absolutely essential for all future colonising work in Palestine is training in good citizenship and social responsibility.

The Hebrew secondary school in Haifa is making an attempt to educate children for work in Palestine by basing a good all-round general education on manual training. Three large, well-equipped workshops for metal work, carpentry and bookbinding, and a well-fitted modern kitchen affords boys and girls every opportunity of developing their minds, senses and their skill, under the supervision of well-trained teachers and skilled craftsmen. In addition to this, of course, all the usual high school subjects are taught, including English, Arabic and French, the latter if desired by the parents. The language of instruction is Hebrew.

On completing the six-year high school course, following upon 4 years of elementary school training, there are two alternatives open to the pupils: They may either straightway start on a career for which they have been fitted by their training, or prepare themselves for more specialised technical work by a course of technical studies at the Technicum, which is about to be established.

Courses of domestic economy and social welfare work for young girls will meet one of the greatest needs of the country: Good housewives and efficient social workers. This is more important in Palestine where women from all parts of the world are suddenly faced with conditions of life quite unfamiliar to them, than in other countries with fixed traditions of home life.

A great difficulty presented itself hitherto to parents abroad who wished to give their children a Jewish education in Palestine. There are good schools enough in Palestine equal to the best in Europe and Palestine. But where find a home for the child making up as far as possible for family life? To overcome this difficulty, the Hebrew Secondary School in Haifa has recently opened a boarding school and its immediate success has proved how very urgent the need was. The erection of a special large building for this purpose has to be considered, the demand for places being greater than the space at present at the disposal of the school.

Every care is taken to give the children the feeling of home life. At the same time it enjoys the freedom afforded by large playgrounds. All kinds of sports are cultivated and in summer there is swimming and rowing in the sea. Frequent excursions into the country give the child a wide mental vision into past and future, while cultivating bodily endurance. The beautiful situation of the school on the slope of Mount Carmel with a view of Haifa below, the Bay of Acco and the mountains beyond as far as the snow of Mount Hermon, affords every opportunity for a sound development of mind and body. The climate is very healthy owing to the continually passing sea breezes.

There is no doubt that many parents will gladly seize this opportunity of giving their children a good education on the basis of Hebrew ideals and traditions in Erez Israel. Among the pupils at present at the boarding school of the Hebrew secondary school at Haifa are the sons of Dr. J. L. Magnes, and the children of the late Dr. Israel Friedlander.

We owe a vote of thanks to the Toronto Hebrew Journal, the local Yiddish paper, of July 1st, for more amusement than we have had in a coon's age and hope that it will continue as long as we do on condition that every now and then it publish in its mail box a letter from the editor of the Canadian Jewish Chronicle of Montreal, another contemporary and well-wisher of ours. On second thought, however, it is really to Rabbi Julius Siegel, head of the University Avenue Synagog, that we are indebted, since he was the unwitting inspiration back of the epistle, and we present our felicitations to him with the same appreciation we have shown the others.

Judging from the icicle deposited in the Journal's mail box by the Chronicle's lily-white hand it would seem that Rabbi Siegel, in some previous issue of the Journal which we were unlucky enough to miss, so far forgot himself as to write that "except for a few journals like the Jewish Forum, the Jewish Tribune and the Jewish Light all English-Jewish weeklies are controlled by reformed rabbis, not infrequently edited by rabbis of reformed congregations." You see. The saddening fact is that the Chronicle was forgotten as though buried despite its propinquity to Rabbi Siegel both as to geography and identical confession of faith.

By the same token that Rabbi Siegel heartlessly forgot to list the Chronicle among orthodox papers it is a wonder he did not include the REVIEW which is neither reform nor orthodox but strictly impartial. However, had he spoken of us as orthodox we might have had to hesitate a moment and apologize to the Holy Blossom Congregation for having given more space by actual measurement to University Avenue Synagog doings this year since that is just what the REVIEW did to accomodate the amount of news sent in, merely reserving its usual editorial right to correct the form and change the phrascology in accordance with our simple style of reporting.

So, as glad as we are that Rabbi Siegel omitted us, just so sorry is the Chronicle to have been slighted. Of course this gentleman is probably at a loss to say why he committed such a sin of omission. Had we done such a thing it would have been intentional, just as the Chronicle was intentionally ungallant enough to carry on its masthead for some time after we had successfully invaded its territory, the news that it was the only Anglo-Jewish weekly in Canada. Now, we are nothing if not chivalrous and the reason we should have omitted the Chronicle intentionally from the list Rabbi Siegel gave is our staunch friendship for the Jewish Tribune of New York, a paper we should hate to see suffering from inferior association.

With the fact made clear in the Chronicle's letter to the Journal that the Chronicle is not edited by rabbis of reformed congregations we have no dispute. It must be evident to any one that the Chronicle's very dull columns are hardly edited at all especially those that contain the regular honeyed installments of personal publicity introduced by the same boresome photographs. As to the Chronicle's having a "number of readers in Toronto" which it fears may be "misled" by Rabbi Siegel's grievous oversight, we assume the word "number" to be a classic example of editorial license since in our extensive travels hereabouts we have never chanced on one.

"There is no such a thing as a better or worse congregation. There may be a bigger or a smaller congregation. But cross sections of all congregations are alike. There are small Jews in big congregations, big Jews in small congregations. There is only this difference, that in the congregation there is one man, or there are a few men who are staunch and true and patient and inspiring and encouraging, and one man can give a congregation a reputation. Some of us have benefited by the presence of such men in our congregations. Though we, ourselves, are our hardest taskmasters (the good workman ought to know where he has turned out a good piece of workmanship), there is always delight in sharing the satisfaction, or encouragement in sensible, sympathetic criticism."—Gerson B. Levi, "Reform Advocate."

BNAI BRITH NEWS

The following delegates from Western Canada attended the 55th annual convention of D.G.L. No. 6, I.O.B.B. at Duluth, Minn., July 1st to 4th. Winnipeg Lodge No. 650, Max Steinkopf, Lester Rice, M. Haid and Rabbi Samuel. Lake Cities Lodge No. 696, B. Hollenberg and J. W. Kasler; Saskatoon Lodge No. 739, Arthur Rose. Calgary Lodge No. 816, A. S. Horwitz. Mrs. Haid and Mrs. Rose accompanied their husbands.

The convention approved the establishment of a Canadian council for the lodges of the district situate in Canada, and enacted a law creating the office of Director of Canadian Affairs to be held by a member of the general committee. The director is to have the supervision over the activities of the Canadian lodges and to make himself responsible for their welfare. The sum of $1,000.00 was appropriated for the Winnipeg Boys' and Girls' Summer Camp. Special and laudatory reference to the work done by Winnipeg Lodge during the year 1922 was made in the report to the convention by the committee on state of the order. Rabbi Samuel offered the invocation at the banquet and also at the conclusion of the convention.

TALMUD TORAH TOPICS

At the last meeting of the directors of the Talmud Torah, Mr. Kushnarev was appointed principal of the Flora Cor. Charles branch. As he has the confidence of both the teachers and directors, the choice will no doubt, be a great benefit to the institution. The Talmud Torah pupils of all three branches held a joint picnic to the Assiniboine Park on Sunday, July 1, under the supervision of the Board of Education. Arrangements were made with the street railway and the children were taken out and brought back by street car. Games, races and refreshments were the order of the day. The weather was superb and a good time was had by all participating. The teachers worked hard and prepared a very excellent program. Events like this cannot be excelled for strengthening the bond of mutual good-feeling betweeno the board, the teachers and the children.

RESEARCH COUNCIL ANNOUNCES NEW GRANTS

The Research Council of Canada announces the granting of the following fellowships, studentships and bursaries, to be held in Canadian universities during 1923-24. These awards are granted each year by the research council for the purpose of developing in Canada a body of thoroughly trained scientific investigators and research workers in order that they may be available to assist in the solution of technical problems which confront Canadian industries, or for scientific positions in the universities. A fellowship carries with it a grant of $1,200, a studentship, $1,000 and a bursary $750.00.

Once again one of our Jewish students has excelled in the person of Miss M. Weinberg, of the University of Manitoba, who won a fellowship.

SHAAREY ZEDEK PICNIC

The always anticipated picnic for the children of the Shaarey Zedek Sunday School was held at the Montefiore Club camp grounds on Sunday, June 24, and, however many absentees there may be at the Sunday classes, it is easily noticeable that at this event there is a full attendance, and this day proved no exception to the rule. The afternoon was passed in sports and games for all, of which there was no lack of contestants. Drinks and ice cream, as well as the prizes were provided by the Sisterhood of the Congregation, who were in general charge of the afternoon. ## HOME FOR AGED HAILS CUPID, AS 102 VAMPS THRICE WIDOWER 105

Centenarian Couple Emerges from Synagog Holding Hands; "Aren't Men the Scandal-mongers, Dearie?" She Answers Questions on Status.

New York (special)—Two hundred aged men and women in the Sons and Daughters of Israel Home, 230 East Tenth Street, yesterday discussed a romance some of them say involves two popular centenarians, inmates of the institution. The women, most of them long past eighty, gathered in groups, their white-capped heads close together. There was a regular old-time gossip-fest lasting nearly all day.

Chaim Weiss, "Sage of Wyassy" they call him, a landscape gardener of 105 years, who came from Bucharest sixty years ago, and Etta Tooper, 102, widow, fifty years in America, emerged from the syangog yesterday holding hands. Etta is a vivacious, blue-eyed little chatterbox from Galicia, many years resident in the Tenth Street home.

Weiss is recovering from an operation. During his convalescence, the gossips say, widow Tooper attended him assiduously. After luncheon yesterday, she drew a chair near his and kept him cool with a palm leaf fan. Meanwhile scores of shawled, white-bonneted and aproned old ladies—like so many Rembrandts stepped straight out of the frames—whispered they had known it all along.

Miss Frances Linder, secretary of the home, smilingly declined to confirm gossip anent the Weiss-Tooper romance, but consented to facilitate the questioning of both principals. When Weiss was asked whether he contemplated matrimony in his second century, he grunted contemptuously, puffing vigorously at a cigarette. Then he referred his caller to widow Tooper, whom he characterized as "a mighty smart girl," adding, apropos those "everlasting gossips in the women's dormitory," that she would "put a flea in their ears."

"I've had three wives," he chuckled. "Three times is out. I know when I've had enough."

"Oh, what I know about you!" joked Miss Linder as she sat by widow Tooper and patted the old woman's hands. "Do you know what they say? That you're in love with papa Weiss. Why, it's all over the place. What have you to say for yourselves, you dear old vamp?"

The widow Tooper, with eyes downcast like a girl of seventeen, questioned about her first love affair, fidgeted a moment with her apron hem. Then with a wise old smile, she remarked:

"My Lord! Aren't old men the scandal-mongers, dearie?"

EX-GOVERNOR ALLEN SAYS BRITAIN MUST STICK TO PALESTINE

London (J.T.A.).—The hope that Great Britain will continue to administer Palestine, the abandonment of which would be "a great set-back of one of the world's hopes," was expressed by ex-Governor Allen of Kansas, who arrived in London from a tour of the Near East in behalf of the Near East Relief Committee.

"Palestine is the most hopeful spot in the Near East," the former Governor stated in an interview with a "Times" representative. "I am convinced of the absolute impartiality of Sir Herbert Samuel's administration, who is giving Palestine the best government the country ever had. As Churchill, the former Colonial Secretary, clearly explained, the intention underlying the establishment of a homeland for the Jews, does not mean that Palestine will be turned over to the control of the Jews.

"Jewish thought is gradually readjusting itself to the realization that British residency in Palestine is giving all races equal justice. Palestine's progress has been somewhat checked by misunderstanding. Nevertheless the Jewish colonies, where modern farming equipment is used, are showing satisfactory progress. The land is capable of sustaining a good population, as is proven by its history. There would be a great set-back to the world's hope if Britain should abandon the Palestine Mandate."

(Whence cometh my help?)

by S. B. Kauffman

We rise to suggest that the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies is alive yet and that it will live on until that happy time when "poverty will cease from the land." There are a goodly number of men and women, strong in heart and in mind, who will not permit the Federation to be "thrown on the communal scrap heap," should the final test come. They may get rid of Kaufman or of others who will follow him, but they shall always see that the Federation continues to exist.

There is one hundred per cent. truth in the humorous and satirical presentation of the present very sad financial situation of the Federation in "Every Friday" in a recent issue of the REVIEW.

No one will deny the truth that there are a large number of our co-religionists who do not care whether the Federation lives or dies and who would be much more at ease without it.

Furthermore, it may be a good thing for the Federation to die, at least for a short period. Let each one of the ten affiliated organizations struggle for itself to secure funds for its activities. Let the people go back to the spasmodic "handkerchief" collection for our needy families and see how successful they will be in working out their problems. Let us show our neighbours our lack of appreciation for modern constructive social service.

Yes, it would be better, perhaps, for the Federation to die because we are positive that immediately after its death the community would soon realize that it cannot do without it and with the resurrection of the Federation, it would bring new life and new vitality.

It is indeed very distasteful and distressing to disturb the happy vacation thoughts of people by continuously relating to ~~them~~ tales of woe and suffering but we are forced to do it for the sake of the sick, aged, orphans and widows and others who have to rely upon the support of the Federation.

The majority of people with beautiful homes and every luxury in life are entirely ignorant as to how the other side lives and exists. Yea, even the most pathetic appeals do not always awaken in them their sympathy for the less fortunate.

If our ever-willing and kind volunteer worker, Mrs. M. Narrol, could take some of our prosperous people who "do not care" to such places as on E—— Street where a family, consisting of father, mother and five small children are, because of dire poverty, compelled to live in two small, filthy, dark, rooms in a most dilapidated shack; these people would soon open their hearts and purses. There are many others who are compelled to live under the same conditions.

The Federation is suffering greatly for lack of knowledge by the public as to its activities. Very few people really know what the Federation is doing. We cannot publish the names of families whom we are assisting in various ways. If we could, we would have many more followers and supporters.

The Federation must have fifty men and women, representing the various groups of the community to do missionary work for at least three or five days during the year. They could soon place the Federation on a sound financial basis because it possesses sufficient merits to persuade every good Jew and citizen to support it.

The Federation is at present in a most critical situation financially. The The Family Welfare Board, the Jewish Childrens' Home, the Hebrew Ladies' Maternity Aid Society, the Big Brothers, and the other affiliated organizations are making a heroic effort to answer the various demands made upon them. We never did have sufficient funds to conduct our activities adequately. At present we are entirely out of funds and we are unable to provide for our old families. We are surely not in a position to assist new ones. But what excuse can we give to them when we have such a large Jewish community, and most of them able to assist?

The Federation will need about two thousand more subscribers, in order to continue its activities properly. Can YOU help us secure one subscriber? We cannot help our needy unless we are supported by the community.

It would also be very helpful if Rivka would think of us more often in "Every Friday."

Have You Sent Yours?

The Jewish Boys' Camp this year is located at Stop 35, Hamilton Highway, west of the Long Branch Rifle Range. The site is ideal.

The first group of fifty boys arrived at the Camp on Tuesday, July 3rd, 1923. The Committee desires to increase the number to seventy-five, some of whom will be given two weeks' vacation and others, where necessary, a month or two months' vacation.

There have been a number of visitors. They were delighted with the plans for the development of the boys at camp.

In order to carry out the plans properly, and to make the Camp the success that it deserves, money is needed.

Without hesitation mail your subscription to Edmund Scheuer, Sr., Treasurer, Jewish Boys' Camp, 131 Yonge Street, Toronto.

RABBI BRICKNER ADDRESSES INTERNATIONAL DESIGNERS

Rabbi Brickner was the principal speaker at the banquet at the King Edward Hotel of the International Designers' Convention which was held in Toronto last week. The large banquet audience listened with profound interest to Rabbi Brickner's address on "Some Aspects of International Relations" in which he advocated a scheme for the outlawing of war from the category of international law. The Rabbi advocated the formation of a world court sanctioned by all the powers of the world to which every nation would be compelled to bring its disputes with another nation for decision.

GREATER JEWISH THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY IS PLANNED BY RABBIS

Seminary gets 48 Calls for Its 3 Rabbis

Long Branch, N.J. (J.T.A.)—The launching of a million dollar campaign for the Jewish Theological Seminary and its affiliated institutions and the establishment of a publication as a forum for scholarly work among American rabbis were the principal steps that marked the convention of the Rabbinical Assembly of the Jewish Theological Seminary which is meeting at Long Branch.

Dr. Louis Epstein in his presidential message urged that means be provided to enlarge the faculty and student body of the Seminary and to make the great Jewish library of the Seminary available for scholars generally.

Dr. L. Finklestein reported for the placement committee, that applications for seminary rabbis had been received from 48 congregations.

There were three graduates this year and 48 calls for them, Dr. Finklestein declared: "We cannot get enough rabbis to fill the demand."

Dr. Cyrus Adler and Elias L. Solomon also addressed the convention.

FRENCH PROFESSOR'S CRITICISM STIRS ROUMANIA

Bucharest (J.T.A.)—Government and academic circles are understood to be concerned over an article by Prof. Charles Bonglee, sociologist of Sorbonne, who recently visited Roumania and published an article in the Roumanian "Quotidien," scoring Roumania for her persecution of the Jews.

"It is indisputable," Prof. Bonglee writes, "that the Jews have been brutally driven forth from the universities by their Roumanian colleagues. I do not like to refer to the subject, and I do not intend to deny there are difficulties in the university question, but fundamentals exist which must not be violated and there are methods which must not be used or endured if Roumania wishes to be a modern nation."
